Our April program:

Identifying Birds by Sound

7:00 p.m. - Monday, April 4th

Ever hear a bird sound that you couldn't identify, or have trouble telling apart all those warbles, twitters and trills?

Nathan Pieplow will show us a new way of listening to bird sounds – part of an innovative approach that emphasizes learning basic patterns by visualizing sounds. Nathan's methods and materials will eventually make it possible to look up an unfamiliar bird sound in a field guide. After learning a few basic concepts – and hearing some of the 6000 recordings Nathan has made in the field – you will come away with a whole new way of hearing the natural world. (Nathan is editor of "Colorado Birds", journal of the Colorado Field Ornithologists.)
